JECRC MUN 2016

DIPLOMACY FOR THE FUTURE

*When you hide it, we seek.
We see beyond the obvious and into the oblivious.
We are the International Press.*

The 5th Edition of JECRC MUN-2016 starting its course on 26th March for two days, has been crafted in the veil of words and is prepared to be embedded in the memories of those who are making this event a destination for intelligentsia.

With more than 200 delegations, veterans of Model United Nations as Executive Board members and facilitated Organising Committee; the Team of International Press, aims at providing a summarised version of the two-day festival of global ideas, interests and information, under the JECRC-MUN NEWSLETTER.

Happy Reading, Team IP

THE CATALYZING FORCES

Secretary General Speaks;

'...When the sun comes up, you'd better be running.'

The embedded essence and the efforts given in for the birthing of this 5th JECRC Model United Nations can be summarised as afore-said.

I, Ayush Rawtani, thank you all for being a part of this event which has its identity because of its participants and the team behind the curtains, and welcome you all to re-live the moments of JECRC MUN 2016.

From the Desk of Director General;

Jaipur was awaiting your presence and JECRC is grateful that it played the host. In the capacity of Director General, I Divyanshi Sharma feel immense pleasure in providing you the written memoir of JECRC MUN 2016.

Message from Deputy Secretary General;

I, Deputy Secretary General, Sakshi Sharma thank you all on behalf of the members of JECRC MUN Organizing Committee and invite you all to the worded world of this two day event.

On Behalf of the International Press;

*I Hear it, I Forget.
I See it, I Capture.
I Read it, I Remember.
I Experience it, I do it all.*

The symphonies created by the 5th Edition of JECRC MUN have been ringing bells in the minds of many as it has advanced toward recreating history in the dome of success.

JECRC MUN-2016 became the synonym to a two-day peregrination on the track of ideas, intellect and emotions, frescoed with facts and fashion. The perennially energized Organizing Committee, the exceptionally wise Executive Board members, curious and competitive delegates from across the nation, vigilant International Press and a co-operative conference staff; are the five parameters which would define this edition of JECRC MUN, in collaboration with global agendas, universal issues and their mature solutions.

*You have heard about it, never to forget.
You have Seen it and captured the memories for a lifetime.
You are about to read it, to remember it forever.
I hope you had an experience that would bring you back for doing it all, all over again.*

UN HCR : Inception and Globalisation of Syrian Refugee Crisis

– NIRANKUSH SINGH

“There weren't any curtains in the windows, and the books that didn't fit into the bookshelf lay piled on the floor like a bunch of intellectual refugees.”

When an entire segment of the world is burned and reduced to a lawless battleground, a land where government does not exist, where the slate of history is being wiped out and hope has drowned in gallons of innocent blood, the only respite comes in the form of the open seas and what lies beyond the horizon.

Syria's civil war is the worst humanitarian crisis of our time. Half the country's pre-war population is struggling to survive inside Syria, or make a new home in neighboring countries.

In its first session, UN HCR observed incredibly high participation when the first call for GSL witnessed 35 placards in a committee of 41 delegates. The committee virtually discussed all the possible problems such as rapes, hunger, sanitation and their implication on the international peace and security. The civil conflict in Syria poses the most complex and immediate humanitarian challenge to the West Asia-North Africa (WANA) region.

On its day 2, the UN HCR was entirely focused on solution to the problems of the refugees and the consequential host countries. There were two working papers in the committee. The domination was clearly of the European Union as most of the signatories were of the European Union. The productivity and credibility of the same was accepted by most of the committee, and as a unanimous promise to solve the issue of Syria, the UNHCR completed its two-day course.

UNSC: Past resolutions regarding Israel Palestine Conflict

-ABHINEET MAURYA

“For if life had taught her anything, it was that healing and peace can begin only with acknowledgment of wrongs committed.”

These words of Susan Abulhawa, in her work ‘Mornings in Jenin’, speak through our silence.

Israeli-Palestinian crisis so far has seen thousands dead, wounded and rendered homeless. In the two-day long session of United Nations Security Council, we look back into past resolutions to remember the plight of refugees as well as to look forward in a hope for a better future.

The proceedings commenced with Israel, transporting the committee back into 1967 around the prospect of Arab pursuing its self interest instead of coming to an even consensus and pointing out the ambiguity of Arab Peace Initiative, with American Delegate’s counter view that Israel and Palestine themselves account for any exchange and not some foreign power.

Russia concentrated on the critical conditions of Gaza Strip and asserted backed by majority that Right to self-defence doesn’t come with autonomy to take the lives of innocent citizens.

Acknowledging the power of Press, USA made a public statement about its strong opposition to any unilateral Palestinian move for statehood and accepted the fact that there cannot be any shortcut for peace; which shall be the bottom line of any such conflict.

GA DISEC: International Peace and Security with Special Emphasis on South China Sea

-SHREYA BHATT

With exceptional potential into the agenda and brimming enthusiasm of delegates to explore every corner of the same, GA DISEC under the executive board comprising of Mr. Krishna Saraswat and Mr. Raunak proceeded towards finding out a concrete solution to a complex conflict of South China Sea and reaching out to a broader horizon of world peace and safety.

While the delegate of China put forth the claims of the country which revolved around the demands of possession of the disputed territory and the non-interfered control over the waters of South China Sea, Japan asserted undeterred that the acts of China may prove to be a hindrance to sovereignty, security and peace of world. Amongst all the engrossing discussion, Cambodia and Malaysia stood diplomatic and neutral, with India emerging as a pillar of peace in literal sense.

The zeal of the members was fuelled when the committee was ushered into a crisis scenario, testing the agility and knowledge of the committee as a whole.

The overall proceedings of GA DISEC, which echoed with the enthusiastic debates of young and novel delegates and knowledgeable Executive Board, could be summarised in the words of Jane Addams; “The good we secure for ourselves is precarious and uncertain until it is secured for all of us and incorporated into our common life”.

LOK SABHA: Customising and framing a Uniform Civil Code

-GAURAV CHAPLOT & PRIYANSHI PATEL

With a plethora of different religions in our country, it is obvious that people will face conflicts pertaining to their religious beliefs and practices. The way to resolve these conflicts is through the Uniform Civil Code. Or is it?

The Indian committee, LOK SABHA was lit with similar question with young brains arguing on the proposal to replace the personal laws based on the scriptures and customs of each major religious community in the country with a common set governing every citizen. Deputy speaker and speaker Mr Chinmay Saxena and Mr Vedansh Sharma carried the course of the debate with several interesting and involving put-ins.

Opening statement by the Prime Minister Narendra Modi, “The implementation of Uniform Civil Code is required to protect everyone’s rights. UCC will not take away the personal rights of tradition” clearly showed the reservations of the people at large and that of people’s representatives against implementation of Uniform Civil Code.

The committee, since was tackling an issue which would have mass effect, could not be conclusive enough to pass a concrete idea, yet the sound discussion, substantive debate and progressive dialogues between the members gave a hope that the future of India is bright in the young hands and wise minds.
